

Keynote Speech

Becoming a modern-day farm chick

Ever feel like you don't fit in? Like, you're involved in agriculture but also have so many other hobbies, interests, roles and jobs? Not sure what to call yourself? Are you a farmer? Farm mom? Farm wife? Entrepreneur? Nothing seems to make sense?

Same, girl, same.

I am here to tell you that you don't have to fit inside a box. You don't have to be just one thing or define yourself with a title. In fact, the more you you can be, the better you can share your story.

Becoming a modern-day farm chick shares just that. Through my personal journey from full-time farmer to full-time butt wiper and everything in between, I show you what it means to be a modern-day farm chick. How saying "yes" and overcoming the fear of trying something new can lead to more opportunities and a greater impact. This keynote speech inspires you to be unapologetically yourself and share your unique story.

CLIENT FEEDBACK

"Thank you. I often feel like I don't fit in as a farm wife. I didn't grow up on a farm and married into farming. I work off the farm, but still help out whenever and wherever I can. This showed me that we all look different, but that doesn't make you any less of a farmer."

"This pulled me from my comfort zone and challenged me in a way that wasn't scary or uncomfortable. I left feeling like I knew myself a little better."

Please feel free to reach out for any questions.
